REYMAN E MAIL REPORT – 4 APRIL 2009

Hello from sunny and warm Alberton, South Africa. The trees are starting to lose their leaves as we are at the end of our summer and entering the short autumn season. This is Karen with the last report from Africa.

LEAVING SOON

Our boxes have gone to the shipper and we have been saying farewell to our friends. Not an easy task, but necessary to go on to the new phase of our lives. I directed the Under His Wings Choir for the last time on Sunday night, March 22nd, and the choir had a farewell tea for me on Monday, the 23rd. The choir will continue with another member directing, but I will miss them dearly. Below is a brief summary of our schedule for the next few months. Please pray for our safety and wisdom as we travel and make decisions over the next months.

TIGANE CHURCH BUILDING

Paul went to Tigane to purchase materials to finish the house on the 24th and 31st of March and on the 3rd of April. The minister's house where the church meets will be complete once the last of these supplies are installed. Plamen Parapanova, a friend, will supervise the finishing of the building after we are gone. The ceiling, tiles for the kitchen and bathrooms, and painting in the house, and the same for the church toilet block, will finish the building project.

FAMILY FOOTNOTES

Laurie, our daughter, just returned home in Georgia after a ten day to Monrovia, Liberia, to help with logistics and to assist with facilitating a Gender-based violence workshop for experts from Africa which was hosted by the Carter Center. She is now in the last few weeks of her second year at University of Georgia doing her master's degree in social work. She will graduate on the 9th of May. We are proud to announce that she was chosen as an "Amazing Student" at the University of Georgia. You can see her profile at www.uga.edu and click on Amazing Students.

Our son, Lonnie, and daughter-in-law, Beth, are expecting their first child the middle of October. Grandchild number one for Paul and I. Beth continues her nursing duties at Sutter Coast hospital in Crescent City, CA. and, Lonnie began his new job as a probation officer for Del Norte county on the 3rd of April.

Harold Reyman, Paul's father, was moved to a memory care facility in Brookings, Oregon at the beginning of March. He is only twenty-five miles from Crescent City, CA, where Lonnie and Beth are living so they are still able to monitor his well-being.
